Business Speeds Up In State House; Filibuster Called Off

By ROGER LANE
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A filibuster that has hobbled the work-jammed Illinois House since June 7 suddenly was called off Wednesday.

Its end was signaled by speeches in which Reps. John K. Morris (D-Chadwick) and Paul A. Ziegler (D-Carmi) served notice they no longer would stand on constitutional grounds and require reading of all bills in their entirety. This is a time consuming procedure usually dispensed with.

The leaders of a downstate group protesting against some Chicago convention hall bills, Morris and Ziegler declared that the filibuster had accomplished its purpose.

Ziegler said their tactics were "successful in focusing the attention of the people and the Senate on the problem." The bills, passed by the House, are pending in the Senate.

Morris and Rep. Francis J. Loughran (D-Joliet), another member of the downstate group, complained about the Chicago Tribune's role in support of the legislation.

Morris pictured the proposed $4 million dollar lakefront convention hall as a "monument" to that newspaper, and spoke of "misdirected" influence.

NEW YORK (AP)—Three western foreign ministers are converging on New York to map a united front for the "summit" meeting with Russia July 18-21 in Switzerland.

A fourth foreign minister, V. M. Molotov of Russia, was in New York—but not to attend the conference.

He was leaving for San Francisco and the United Nations 10th anniversary observance.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles arrived by plane from Washington late Wednesday.

Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan of Great Britain and Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay of France will arrive in New York in separate overseas planes in the morning for talks with Dulles, starting Thursday afternoon.

The following day they will lunch with Konrad Adenauer, the West German chancellor.

Child, Dog Find Bodies Of Two Slain Teen Girls

WASHINGTON (AP) — A barking dog led a child to a suburban thicket Wednesday and disclosed the bodies of two teen-age girls, who had been shot or stabbed to death.

Chief George Panagoulis of the Prince George's County (Md.) police reported that two men had been arrested and were being questioned about the slayings, which occurred at nearby Lane Manor, Md.

The dead girls were Nancy Marie Shomette, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Shomette of Lane Manor, and Michael Ann Ryan, 14, the daughter of Thomas W. Ryan, a Washington policeman. Nancy had set out after breakfast to get her report card at Northwestern High School, taking Michael along for company.

They had apparently been slain about mid-morning in a secluded area near their home.

After failing to stop the convention hall bills in the House, the filibusterers have sought to force their amendment in the Senate.

They want the state's fair and exposition fund, which would finance retirement of revenue bonds for construction of the Chicago project, to remain open to downstate agricultural fairs.

As approved by the House, the bills would end county fair participation in this fund but leave unaffected the privilege of drawing on the agricultural premium fund for state aid. Both funds are financed from state taxes on horse race betting.

Immediately after the filibuster ended shortly before noon, the House raced ahead at a gallop, passing about 30 bills in 90 minutes.

Among measures approved and referred to the Senate were those to raise tax rate ceilings of school districts, appropriate $177,000 for remodeling the House chamber and set up a legislative fiscal control board.

A fourth bill would provide for state licensing, at $25 a plane, of commercial aircraft on which liquor is served.

Under the tax measure, the maximum educational fund tax rate that could be levied with voter approval, would rise in unit districts from $1.77 1/2 for each $10 of assessed property to $2. The corresponding boost in dual districts

Has 'New Life' After Miraculous Operation

CHICAGO (AP) — A 25-year-old housewife who underwent frozen sleep while surgeons stopped her heart for a total of 16 minutes for two operations was released as cured Wednesday from Wesley Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Lorraine Mackowiak submitted to two consecutive heart operations May 18, while her body temperature was dropped from the normal 98.6 to 80 degrees.

The first operation was performed to bring into view a narrow band of muscle which was wound around the upper right ventricle of the heart. It required 4 1/2 minutes to sever this constricting collar, and another 4 minutes to restart the heart. The blood flow was stopped to permit surgeons to operate more freely.

After the patient's heart was sewn, it was massaged back to life and permitted to beat normally for 45 minutes. Then it was cut open again to reach the pulmonary valve, which had been 98 per cent closed and permitted only a trickle of oxygenated blood to reach the lungs.

The valve phase of the operation required 3 1/2 minutes. Another 4 minutes was required to start the heart pumping again.

Frozen sleep is known technically as hypothermia. In this type of anesthesia, the patient first is given a drug, and then her temperature is lowered by wrapping her in a blanket through which a refrigerant is flowed. As her body temperature drops, she lapses into a state of semi-hibernation in which oxygen requirements are reduced.

Mrs. Mackowiak had been listless and pale. Now she has color in her cheeks and said that "I've never had this much pep before in my life."

"She sure is pretty," said her husband, William R., an apprentice tool maker.

Vast New Defense Communications System Gets OK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee Wednesday disclosed it has approved a vast new air defense communications system that may cost more than two billion dollars.

The system is known by the code word Sage which means "Semi-Automatic Ground Environment." Many of its details still are top military secrets.

Considerable information about it became public through release of closed-door testimony by defense and Air Force officials before the Appropriations committee.

Lyle S. Garlock, assistant secretary of defense for financial management, testified that the vast communications network is being built under lease contracts with American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

He estimated that lease costs may run as high as 240 million dollars a year over a 10 year period. That would be nearly 2 1/2 billion dollars.

The network of telephone and teleprinters will hook up all radar sites, air bases and other control and command centers within the continental United States for detection and operations against possible enemy air attack.

Garlock and other Air Force officials said the system was ordered installed by the National Security Council and the secretary of defense.

Peron Police Expel 2 Catholic Prelates, Search Parish Houses

By FRED L. STROZIER
BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President Juan D. Peron's police expelled two Roman Catholic prelates Wednesday and swooped down upon more than one hundred parish houses in search for documents.

The prelates, after being held overnight on the basis of government charges that they incited riots and other disorders, were put aboard a plane bound for Rome. They are the Rt. Rev. Manuel Tato of Buenos Aires, and the Rt. Rev. Roman Pablo Novoa, canon deacon of the archdiocese.

They were taken into custody for questioning Tuesday soon after the government issued a decree ordering them dismissed from their church posts.

As auxiliary bishop, Msgr. Tato recently has been in effect head of the Catholic church here. The archbishop, Santiago Luis Cardinal Copello, has been ill and unable to perform many of his duties.

Both Msgr. Tato and Msgr. Novoa are natives of Argentina.

Federal police raided all of the 120 homes and offices of parish priests in the capital and its suburbs, seeking evidence to support the government's contention that the church was responsible for violent clashes between Catholics and Peron supporters last week.

At least 20 persons were injured in these disorders.

A police official said handbills criticizing Peron and defending the church were seized in the raids.

The expelled prelates had been under fire from Peron and the pro-government press for several days.

One Dies, Twelve Hurt In Colorado Streamliner Crash

FORT MORGAN, Colo. (AP)—The Union Pacific's Los Angeles-Chicago train, derailed on a Wyoming flood, ran into another flash flood in northeastern Colorado Wednesday and was wrecked.

A trainman aboard the west-bound passenger streamliner was killed and about a dozen persons were injured. Not more than three of these were believed seriously hurt.

The locomotive, two units immediately behind it and a sleeper midway of the train overturned. Nine other coaches of the 17 units left the rails.

The trainman killed was George F. Hobusch Jr. of Sandy, Utah, an electrician.

The challenger, bound for Los Angeles from Chicago, usually doesn't operate in Colorado. However, cloudbursts in southern Wyoming Tuesday night washed out sections of the main U. P. line east of Cheyenne, so the train was rerouted into Colorado.

Excommunication Almost Certain For Peron, Others

VATICAN CITY (AP)—President Juan D. Peron has almost certainly fallen under automatic excommunication by the Roman Catholic Church for the expulsion of two Buenos Aires prelates, a Vatican source said Wednesday.

The automatic excommunication also would be incurred by all other Roman Catholic members of the Argentine government who had part in impeding the two prelates in performance of their church duties, this source said.

The day's developments further strained the already tense relations between Peron's government and the Holy See. Some here feared this might lead to a break in diplomatic relations between the Vatican and predominantly Catholic Argentina.

Vatican authorities are studying carefully the latest series of developments in which Msgr. Manuel Tato, auxiliary bishop of Buenos Aires, and his assistant, Msgr. Pablo Novoa, were reported to have been detained by police, escorted to an airport, and forced to leave the country.

They are on a Rome-bound plane, due here shortly before midnight Thursday.

About 4 1/2 million U. S. women are employed in clerical work—about a quarter of all employed women.

High church dignitaries said they did not learn that Msgr. Tato and Msgr. Novoa had been deported until hours after their plane had left.

They landed at Rio de Janeiro before noon and remained aboard until the takeoff for Natal, Brazil, and the flight across the Atlantic to Dakar.

A source at the Vatican said that if the government ordered the expulsion Peron, who is a Catholic, and other officials almost certainly would be subject to automatic excommunication. Canon law provided that "all those who emit laws, mandates or decrees against the freedom and rights of the church are struck by excommunication."

Since the beginning of the church state controversy seven months ago, when Peron charged some members of the clergy were maneuvering politically against his administration, 78 priests have been arrested. Many of these were accused of disrespect to the President and other government officials. Most have been released after brief detention.

The decree discharging Msgr. Tato and Msgr. Novoa was based on old Spanish colonial law which empowered secular authorities to remove or suspend priests who had violated their duties.

History's Biggest Sham A-Raid Tests Readiness Of 59 American Cities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation and its outlying possessions went under make believe atomic attack Wednesday in a rehearsal of sudden colossal devastation and death.

It was the biggest test of its kind in history, embracing 59 cities on the mainland and in Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico and the Panama Canal Zone.

President Eisenhower led the rehearsal as he fled Washington in advance of a make believe raid that figuratively wiped out the capital.

With him to hideaways within a 300-mile radius of Washington went 15,000 key government officials, there to grimly pantomime the tremendous task of pulling a battered nation back to its feet.

Left behind were Congress and the Supreme Court, the other two branches of the government.

En route from Washington, Eisenhower proclaimed a mock "Civil Defense emergency." It was intended to set in motion the gigantic relief, rehabilitation and control machinery upon which would depend the nation's survival in the face of the real thing.

As the nation braced against the pretended holocaust, Gen. Curtis Lemay took off by plane for Omaha for a secret destination. A real enemy attack would bring instant retaliation and Lemay as Strategic Air Force commander is the man who would unleash it.

The so-called Operation Alert 1955 has been in the works since last March. Nearly all of the target cities knew in advance when the sirens would sound. Seven only learned it Wednesday, a test of their reaction under surprise conditions.

The Civil Defense phase of the nationwide exercise will last only 26 hours. The government participation will extend over three days, ending Friday night, a telescoping of 30 days anticipated confusion in event of a real attack.

The first warning of an impending hypothetical attack came at 12:03 p. m. Within four minutes the nation was under a Yellow Alert, signifying enemy bombers had been spotted on the way. By 12:30 the warnings had been extended to Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Canal Zone.

Time of the simulated attack varied by cities and areas. Most of them occurred in early or mid-afternoon.

Casualties, had the attacks been real, would have run into the millions.

In New Britain, Conn., one of the city's 20 air raid sirens burst into flames during the alert. A short circuit was blamed.

The nation's first practice evacuation of a civilian hospital occurred in Bangor, Me. Ten patients and 20 staff members were moved 15 miles from Bangor Osteopathic Hospital to a high school building.

Ten thousand swimmers and sunbathers were hustled under the boardwalk and piers at Atlantic City, N. J.

At Monmouth, N. J., racetrack patrons left the grandstand and clubhouse for first floor shelters.

Aussie Troops To Aid British In Malaya War

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—Australia decided Wednesday to send troops to join in the seven-year British struggle against Communist-led Guerrillas in Malaya.

Australian spokesmen in London estimated a battalion, perhaps 1,000 men, would be shipped to that Southeast Asian land, rich in tin and rubber.

But Prime Minister Robert Menzies said: "The decision allowing the use of Australian forces against the terrorists will not permit their use in relation to any civil disturbances or in the internal forces of the Malayan Federation or Singapore."

British and British colonial troops in Malaya now total about 30,000, outnumbering the Reds 6-1 or more. Menzies said the Aussies will be stationed at first in Penang, leading port of the Malayan Federation.

Defense Administrator Terms Test 'Successful'

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

Emergency Press Headquarters, Operation Alert (AP) — America suffered "millions" of paper casualties Wednesday as hydrogen and atomic weapons theoretically plummeted down on her key cities.

President Eisenhower and key government workers, warned in advance, hurried from the national capital, set up a skeleton government in scattered hideaways within a 300-mile radius of Washington and laid plans for the nation to bounce back.

It was a vast make-believe operation in which 59 cities, including Washington were theoretically reduced to rubble.

After the mock bombs supposedly had stopped falling and some delayed communications had straggled in, Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson flew to this press headquarters from a top level conference at a secret, mountain spot.

He told a news conference that Operation Alert has been "very successful."

"The government is operating this afternoon, as far as I know, very effectively," he said.

Although the Air Force announced that "Strategic Air Command missions were launched" and planes actually put in the air, in some instances, after the warning alerts, Peterson insisted that "We are not carrying out a retaliatory phase in this operation."

Thus it was obscure as to whether the instant and massive retaliation of which officials have talked was under way on paper.

Besides Eisenhower and other top officials, 15,000 key government employees hastened out of the capital to set up a scattered, skeleton government at sites up to 300 miles away.

Speeding from the White House to a secret command post, Eisenhower declared a mock "Civil Defense emergency," then went on television to tell the public the purpose of this vast Civil Defense operation.

It is, he said, to make sure the government could go on functioning in a real emergency. And aides on the spot assured him all 31 participating agencies with their 15,000 evacuated employees were "ready to do business" two hours after the first simulated alert.

Operation Alert, 1955, as it's called, also saw Secretary of Defense Wilson and the Joint Chiefs of Staff whisked from the Pentagon to another secret center where they would take in a genuine emergency.

Wednesday's mock disaster would have been stunning and horrifying if it had been real. On paper, nuclear weapons flattened cities from New England to California—and rapid-fire "bulletins" issued at an out-of-Washington emergency press headquarters told the "story."

Wailing sirens—and some confusion—at 12:05 p. m. in Washington started the operation.

Eisenhower immediately grabbed his hat and his face set in a deadly earnest expression, strode out behind the White House to a long black car which drove him rapidly away. Secret Service agents and newsmen were along in the six-car motorcade. Its destination: an undisclosed hideaway in a "mountainous, wooded area."

There are 2,370,000 people in greater Boston.

Each agreement takes effect in 30 days unless Congress specifically registers disapproval.

No exchange of information on military uses of the atom is provided for, but both classified and unclassified data may be traded on peaceful applications. The United States will furnish some atomic materials. In addition, a separate White House statement said the transfer of "equipment devices... under prudent safe" guards would be possible.

There are 2,370,000 people in greater Boston.

Diplomats Think Mock A-Alert Poorly Timed

WASHINGTON (AP) — They were saying in diplomatic quarters Wednesday that this was undoubtedly the worst possible time for the United States to become involved in a mock atomic war.

A good many experts in the State Department — though they would never admit it officially — were mildly agitated over the question, "What will other people say?"

If it had been held at another time, Operation Alert would not have made so much difference in this respect.

But the Civil Defense test Wednesday happened to come just when foreign diplomats are concentrating in the United States for talks concerned more with peace than with war.

The United States and Russia are engaged in a vast contest in which peace talk is a weapon. The prize for which the two sides are striving is the good-will of public opinion in Western Europe and even more in the uncommitted countries of Asia.

A few hours before the sirens and horns began their eerie, possibly prophetic serenade in the nation's capital, Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov arrived in New York, talking, as usual, about peace and international friendship.

FARM PRODUCTION BOOMS

Americans hear much about the way their remarkable economy goes on year after year producing more and more for less and less. Most of the time it sounds like a purely industrial story, but it isn't.

An important revolution has been taking place on our farms. Not much of it occurred before the 1930's, but in the last 20 years or more the forward strides have been tremendous.

In 1935 a U. S. farm worker turned out enough food and fiber to support 10 people. Today he produces sufficient to support 18. Farm output per man-hour in 1953 was 125 per cent above the 1935 level. That's the statistical measure of the American agricultural revolution.

All this time, Americans have been streaming away from the farms and into the cities and towns. In the last two decades the number of farm workers has declined one third.

Their place has been taken by machines, and these machines, along with better seeds, better planting techniques, greater use of fertilizer, soil conservation and other devices, have been responsible for the great boost in productivity.

In 1935 farmers had about a million tractors. By 1954 they had 4.4 million. In 1935 they had less than a million trucks. Now they have 2.6 million. The figures could be extended to many types of farm machines.

Reliance on fertilizer has mounted substantially. Consumption in 1935 was 1,153,000 tons, but today the annual tonnage is around 5,400,000.

The steady exodus of people from farm areas undoubtedly gave a strong push to the revolution. If output was to be maintained and increased, mechanization was absolutely essential.

Unquestionably, too, the heavy war and postwar demand for food and fibers exerted major leverage on the upward productivity trends. Farmers poured fertilizer on to their fields to step up acreage yields and meet the call of the market. In some cases, admittedly, tiring soils would not otherwise have turned out impressive crop totals.

The incredible days of great wartime and postwar foreign demand have passed. The nation today is plagued by surpluses from farms which have learned how to produce more than our own people seem to need at this time.

But, however that problem is handled, it is evident that the farm revolution has not ended. Technical advances tend to snowball, and besides, people are still leaving the farms in considerable numbers. Their departure goads farmers into fresh efforts to get more from their land with fewer men working fewer hours.

Our farms may never get to the point where they look like factories. But if productivity and mechanizing trends continue their present pace, the farms may in fact one day be factories.

The Mature Parent She Found the Way to Let Someone Else Handle Reality

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

At 18, Dot went to a noted women's college, attended classes, dated, majored in English literature—and graduated.

Because she wore clothes well and her uncle knew the advertising manager, her city's smartest department store agreed to make her a fashion stylist. By the end of the year, she was earning an excellent salary.

Living at home, she spent it on luxuries instead of on rent, food, cleaning, telephone and other basic bills. Later, moving to an apartment with another girl, she paid half of the basic bills. But a salary raise enabled her to go right on buying loge theater tickets, $125 suits, imported blouses, expensive cosmetics and vacations.

On one of the vacations, she met Fred.

He wanted marriage intensely. Because their doubled income made one immediately possible, he said, "Sure, go on working. We'll do fine." Which they did. They had a maid four times a week and they had fine parties. It was morning-after dizziness after their biggest party that first told Dot she was going to have a baby.

A modern girl, she met pregnancy in the modern mode. She bought some good looking smocks and worked to within a week of her confinement. So she and Fred had the money for the services of a first-rate hospital and a fashionable obstetrician.

Four months later, Dot gave herself her first home permanent. She bought her first pair of service-weight nylons. She had her first quarrel with Fred over the price she'd paid for some wine. Then young Timothy caught his first cold. It became the kind that doctors visit twice a day. Its cost made his parents' decision to move to a cheaper apartment.

The sink didn't work well. The closets were small. That spring, finding a moth hole in one of the $125 suits, Dot burst into tears. The following day, Tim fell into the pail of water with which she was washing windows. When he was back in dry clothes, his mother went to the telephone—and ask for her old job back.

Now all is fine again. Tim is in nursery school. He has a big sunny room with shelves of toys. The only problem is the unreliability of the women Dot hires to look after him. But as she never fails to keep in telephone touch when he's sick, you couldn't call Tim "neglected."

Not unless you saw him in one of his bedtime tantrums.

There's no sense getting mad at his mother. Her evasion of female reality is inevitable. For years, she's been ducking the economic kind. For years, other people have been paying her basic bills while she's had fun earning her child's dream of a Big Allowance. Dot's doing with her biological reality what she's always done with reality—

Get someone else to look after it for her.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department can let Americans travel abroad or force them to stay home by granting or withholding passports. Any citizen who goes abroad without a passport commits a crime.

This week the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) goes into federal court seeking to force the department to modify its reasons for refusing passports and to let persons denied them have a chance to appeal.

Last year over 400,000 passports were granted. How many applicants were turned down? An official of the Passport Division said Monday he does not know because the division keeps no record on the number of denials.

He said the department can refuse to grant a passport because:

1. An applicant is a Communist or has Communist ties, has a criminal record, is insane, or can't pay his way; or

2. The department doesn't think letting a certain individual go abroad is in this country's best interests. This gives the department wide latitude.

The official said: In cases which fall under No. 2 the State Department uses its own discretion. For example: an individual who wants to go to Latin America may, in the department's opinion, have links with revolutionists there. He wouldn't get a passport.

David Carliner, ACLU attorney, says a person may be refused a passport on the grounds that he said something considered disparaging about the United States.

He gave an example: One man's passport was held up because he was accused, among other things, of having said when last abroad that this country was full of capitalists who exploited labor. He finally got it.

What appeal does an individual have—and what chance to face his accusers and refute them—if he is refused a passport? The passport official said everyone told why he can't get a passport. Carliner says only some are told.

The State Department has an appeals board before which an individual, refused a passport, can plead his case. But the passport official said only people with criminal records or those accused of Communist connections have a right to appeal to the board.

What of all others who are not criminals and are not Communists? The official said they have no appeal but can, if they want, get a hearing before people in the Passport Division. They are not told who their accusers are. Carliner says this is not a hearing but only an interview.

Carliner will present two test cases in federal court. In one he will ask a federal judge to force the State Department to give any person refused a passport a full hearing which he can present evidence in his own behalf, hear all the evidence against him, be represented by counsel, and face his accusers.

In the other case Carliner will challenge the right of the State Department to withhold a passport, with or without a hearing, because a man participated in politics abroad.

Odd Folklore Surrounds Beliefs About the Heart

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Since ancient times the heart has been recognized as essential to life, though why and how have been discovered only comparatively recently.

The connection between life and the heart has brought about a whole lot of superstitions. One ancient Greek superstition, attributed to Pliny, asserts that the heart of one who died of heart disease could not be burned.

Another popular belief mentioned by Pliny, for which there does not appear to be any foundation, is that animals with a hard and rigid heart are looked upon as stupid and clumsy, while those in whom the heart is small are courageous and those with very large hearts are timid.

INHABITANTS of the Orkney and Shetland Islands are supposed to have believed that if any person was emaciated by sickness or other accidental causes, the heart was worn away. They believed that this could be discovered by melting a piece of lead and throwing it into cold water. If the hardened lead took the shape of a heart the person would recover.

In the Scottish Highlands a widespread belief was that insanity was caused by a person's heart getting out of place due to a sudden shock. It was also felt that another shock would bring it back to its former position and thus restore the natural balance.

SUDDEN SHOCK was therefore one of the old remedies for insanity. This is interesting now to recall in the light of the modern development of shock treatment for certain kinds of mental disease.

In the case of sudden death of an expectant mother, a belief sprang up in Scotland that the infant put up its hand and gripped the mother's heart. Hiccough was at one time said to be caused by nerves in the heart in some people and that at every hiccough a drop of blood left the heart.

One man has remarked that since the heart is regarded as the seat of life, soul, wisdom and similar virtues by many primitive peoples, savages devour the hearts of their enemies so that these qualities may pass into them.

A GREAT MANY popular remedies have been used in the treatment of various kinds of heart disease. Frequently these included the hearts of animals, or heart-shaped inanimate objects. There is a story about a man who was told by a wise woman that his cattle, suffering from pestilence, could be cured only if he got the heart of a man who did not know his parents, dipped it in a bucket of water and sprinkled the cattle with the water!

Shortly after a peddler came by, was murdered, his heart taken and the cattle cured. Unfortunately, the tale goes, the disease was transferred to the murderer's family.

Of course, all of these tales are merely superstition and folklore.

Adenauer No Hat-in-Hand Beggar at Moscow Gates

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has indicated that German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will have a completely free hand if he wants to go to Moscow and deal with the Russians.

Dr. Adenauer will be in Washington June 13 and 14 to see President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles before receiving an honorary degree at Harvard. And as German Ambassador to Washington Dr. Heinz Krekeler declares, "I hope there will be more to their meeting than meets the eye."

From the President's press conference statement, it is clear that no strings of any kind are to be tied on future American aid to Germany or the maintenance of American troops in western Europe. The German Federal Republic will have full freedom to act as a sovereign nation which it now is.

Present indications are that the Germans will not attempt to meet the Russians till after the Big Four meeting now being planned to open in Geneva on July 18.

The General Purpose of the Big Four meeting at the summit is now understood to be merely identification of the problems affecting East-West tensions. There will be no attempt to solve completely problems such as the German-Russian differences.

It is believed likely, however, that in any direct negotiations between the Germans and the Russians to "normalize" their relations, Dr. Adenauer or his ministers will have more to demand of the Russians than the Russians will demand of the Germans.

This became apparent immediately after Ambassador Krekeler's recent return from Bonn, following admission of Germany to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Obviously speaking with the full authority of his government, the Ambassador put reunification of West Germany with the Communist controlled East Germany as a first objective.

"We know that we must not try for reunification of Germany at a price or under conditions which would endanger our security," Ambassador Krekeler declared. Then he added significantly: "We cannot possibly agree to any plans for a neutralization of Germany."

That Statement Would Seem to close the door to any Russian idea that they can bargain over the issue. That means no Russian agreement to reunification in exchange for German withdrawal from NATO or withdrawal of American troops.

Any fears that western Germany—having obtained its independence—will sell out American support were foreclosed by the ambassador with the flat statement.

"Any kind of European security system without participation of the United States—as has been suggested by the Soviet Union—seems worthless to us and could only result in establishing Soviet control over all of Europe. Without American help, no European country could ever hope to defend itself."

"The Soviet Union is not morally justified in asking a 'price' for reunification," the Ambassador added. "We demand . . . that Soviet Russia set free the 18 million East Germans."

This is certainly not the language of a weakened Germany, going to Moscow with hat in hand to beg favors of Communist masters. It is more the spirit of the old Germany.

As To Whether this reborn Germany will again go rampaging through Europe, demanding "Jebensraum," Krekeler declared:

"A unified Germany needs cooperation with other countries of Europe. If we don't cooperate, we're all done for. Today, the grass roots people of Germany feel that we are now a part of the European community. This is the greatest difference."

"There is no doubt that a reunited Germany would seek close association with the West," the Ambassador asserted. But he admitted that this raised a real problem for the Soviet as long as tension between East and West exists.

Everything for Children Can Freeze Out Father

A woman can only do so much. And often when a woman does "everything for her children" her husband doesn't get his share of her time and attention and consideration.

The woman who can't say "no" to her children and who thinks they must have everything they want for themselves and everything she wants for them, unconsciously turns Papa into the little man who doesn't count.

She is the kind of woman who remembers no stop at the florist to order a corsage for Junior's date—but forgets to send Papa's business suit to the cleaners.

She is never too tired to chauffeur the kids wherever they and their friends want to go. But she's often too tired to cook a real dinner and Papa has to take the family out for hamburgers after he gets home from a hard day's work.

She sees the importance of her daughter's going to an expensive summer camp—but doesn't see that the money might be better spent letting Papa join a group of friends going on a two-week fishing trip.

IT'S NOTHING TO BE PROUD OF

If she can't get everything done herself around the house and yard, she doesn't see to it that the older children help. She expects Papa to pitch in and work as soon as he gets home from his job.

She is so absorbed in what is important to the children that she forgets about what is important to the man who is paying the bills and who should get his share of her time and attention.

Any woman who prides herself on "doing everything for her children" ought to check up on herself to be sure she isn't doing too much for her children and too little for her husband.

Manners Make Friends

If you go out to the kitchen and offer to help your hostess with last-minute dinner preparations and she assures you there is nothing for you to do—beat it back into the living room. Some hostesses like to have guests offer to help and gladly put them to work. Other hostesses regard a guest in the kitchen as more of a nuisance than a help.

THOUGHTS

That thou keep this commandment without spot, unrebukeable until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ.—1. Timothy 6:14.

The first law that ever God gave to man was a law of pure obedience. It was a commandment naked and simple, wherein man had nothing to inquire after, or to dispute, forasmuch as to obey is the proper office of a national soul, acknowledging a heavenly superior and benefactor.—Montaigne.

Shakespeare Hobby Pays Off On TV Show

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City policeman Redmond L. O'Hanlon is finding his spare-time interest in Shakespeare profitable. He has piled up winnings of $16,000 on the CBS television giveaway show $64,000 Question.

Tuesday night he doubled his $8,000 prize of the week before by telling who printed the first collected edition of Shakespeare's plays and when. The answer: ISAAC Jaggard and Ed Blunt in 1623.

Next week O'Hanlon, the father of five, can choose whether to take the $16,000 or try to double it by answering another Shakespeare question correctly. If successful, he then will have a chance to try for the top prize of $64,000.

O'Hanlon, 39, and a policeman for 10 years, makes a hobby of Shakespeare and his works. He chose the Shakespeare category for questions on the show.

2 Held Guilty Of Attempting To Defraud Widow

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—A federal court jury Tuesday night convicted a father and son of attempting to obtain $1,000 from the widow of a slain railroad president.

William Anthony Gibson, 48, and his son, William John, 27, both of Peoria, were found guilty of a charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud the widow of George P. McNear Jr. McNear was president of the Toledo, Peoria and Western Railroad when he was shot to death March 10, 1947. The slaying still is unsolved.

The government accused the Gibsons of mailing McNear's widow a letter last March asking $1,000 in return for the name of her husband's killer. The letter instructed Mrs. McNear to leave the money in a certain desk drawer in the Peoria Public Library.

Post office inspectors placed an envelope containing fake money in the drawer and seized the Gibsons when they removed the envelope. Government prosecutors told the jury the Gibsons had no knowledge of the McNear slaying.

Judge J. Leroy Adair said he would pronounce sentence later. Prosecutors said both defendants have police records. They said the elder Gibson, recently in the trucking business, served a term in federal prison for robbery in the 1930's. His son recently was released from Stateville, Ill., prison after completing a five year term for armed robbery.

Maximum punishment for mail fraud is 10 years' imprisonment. McNear was assassinated during a period when the railroad was involved in a prolonged labor dispute.

Little Colonel Who Threw Reds Out Of Guatemala Still Is Top Man

Editor's Note: It has been a year since a hatchet-faced little colonel marched at the head of a revolutionary army and, in less than three weeks, overthrew a Communist dominated government in Guatemala that was beginning to cause great concern in the rest of the hemisphere. Here's a report on the colonel—and his regime—today.)

By CARLOS R. ESCUDERO
GUATEMALA CITY (AP) — The earnest little colonel who threw the Communists out of Guatemala is still in the saddle one year later, but the riding has turned rougher in the past six months.

President Carlos Castillo Armas still runs the country and still enjoys wide popularity. But his critics are speaking up with increasing boldness.

Where once the press was either favorable or silent, some elements now needle the government sharply.

The Communists have been put out of business, at least on an organized basis, but opposition to the government is gathering on the extreme right. In addition, Castillo has run into more or less open disagreements with business, labor and the Roman Catholic Church.

The President's followers maintain that much of the criticism stems from his espousal of a middle-of-the-road course; and that the fire from both sides attests to his success in holding such a course.

His critics charge him with absolutism in government and maintain there has been entirely too much delay in returning to government on a constitutional basis.

Castillo, a wiry, thin-faced man, led a band of exiles against the Communist-dominated government of Col. Jacobo Arbenz a year ago on June 17, starting from Honduras soil. The Arbenz regime collapsed in less than three weeks.

Castillo became head of a five-man junta that took control of the government. Then he was boss of a ruling triumvirate, and, still later, the head of a de facto government. Last October, he was chosen president in a plebiscite.

Twice there have been attempts to overturn his government by coup. The first, on Aug. 2, was spearheaded by cadets from the military academy and allegedly masterminded by Col. Eliezer Monzon, former member of the ruling triumvirate.

Castillo put down this coup and apparently resolved jealousies between the regular army and his liberation forces which had figured in the uprising. Monzon was exiled to Miami.

Last Jan. 20, Castillo put down another would-be coup. Since that time there have been many rumors of coups, some attributed to underground Communists, but the President's troubles have come in a more peaceful form.

Possibly the most virgous criticism of Castillo's government has been its failure to re-institute constitutional government. The old constitution was suspended when Arbenz fled the country.

An assembly was chosen last October to draft a new constitution, and its members say the document may be ready for debate some time next month. In the meantime, there are continued charges that Castillo runs the country in a high-handed manner.

Castillo's differences with the church came to a head when Msgr. Mariano Rosell Arellano, archbishop of Guatemala, told the constitutional assembly the Roman Catholic Church expected to be given legal status, with pre-eminence over other religions and compulsory religious education in public schools.

Castillo maintains that while almost all Guatemalans belong to the Roman Catholic Church, the state should not take over the function of religious education. He says he will insist on full freedom of religion and lay education.

In the field of labor, Castillo purged the unions and put them under threat of extinction unless they eliminated Communist influences. Now the unions are being encouraged, but critics charge that they are strictly regulated and little more than pale imitations of unions in the traditional sense.

On one issue there is no disagreement: Guatemala's relations with her immediate neighbors have improved under Castillo's leadership. Unlike his predecessor, he has followed a policy of non-intervention in the affairs of El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

It is economics, however, that may have the greatest influence in determining whether the Castillo government is to stand or fall.

Coffee is the country's one major crop. It accounts for 60 to 70 per cent of exports and brings in two-thirds of the money from foreign trade.

Castillo's supporters list these efforts on the credit side of his administration:

A general plan to reduce dependency on one crop by attracting

HISTORY CAST IN RUBBER—THEN IS LOST

Bandits in the wastelands of southern Arabia may be wearing as boot patches fragments of priceless records collected by an American exploratory expedition. Rubber latex squeezes of inscriptions were taken from newly discovered ruins. They were abandoned when representatives of the "American Foundation for the Study of Man" fled for their lives. Wendell Phillips, leader of the expedition, recently revealed the details in his book, "Qataban and Sheba." Liquid rubber from Akron, Ohio, was spread on the inscriptions backed up with cheesecloth. When hardened, it contained every detail of the lettering.

Ignorant government guards and supervisors saw the excitement of the scientists as they pulled the latex squeezes from temple inscriptions. They thought they were more valuable than gold. The situation grew so tense scientists had to leave.

This rubber copy mentions the purchase and dedication of the house on which it stood. Misled on value, the king of Yemen demanded duplicates of all squeezes. Later ordered all work halted.

Phillips, here, holds statue fragment. He decided on run for their lives leaving $200,000 of equipment behind. They barely made it, outracing a Yemen camel patrol to the border.

ANONYMOUS MARRIAGE
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Court Clerk Al Fern has this request from an ex-GI in Maryland, who lost his divorce papers and wanted new copies: "The case was entitled Foster Vs. Foster. I do not remember the girl's name."

In Asia, girls comprise only 27 per cent of the high school enrollment and in Africa, 28 per cent.

SOVIETS' SATELLITE STRENGTH—When Soviet leaders sit down with their brief cases at the upcoming Big Four conference, they'll have overwhelming manpower behind them, in addition to the vast hordes of Russia's Red army proper. For while they've been talking peace, they've been developing their muscles—via the "Red NATO." Newschart above shows the effect this new, formal "partnership" has on Communist strength in Eastern Europe. There are now nearly two million satellite men under arms. Map figures show individual military strength in the satellites. They represent security police, frontier guards, reserves and regulars. Cities shown on map, including East Berlin, are the 18 principal military headquarters that get signals from the Kremlin.

PATTERSON

PATTERSON—Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bain and daughters, Marilyn and Shirley, have rented an apartment in Granite City for the summer, as Mr. Bain and daughter, Marilyn, have employment there. Shirley, a this year's graduate from Roodhouse community high school, will seek employment while there. The family expects to spend their weekends in their Patterson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Crabtree and son, Ronnie, of Morton, spent the weekend at their Patterson home, and called on relatives and friends.

Janis Dawdy spent Saturday night and Sunday in White Hall with her cousin, Judy Dawdy.

Mrs. Belle Dawdy was taken ill Thursday night and was taken early Friday morning to the Boyd Memorial hospital in Carrollton, where she is still a patient. Last reports she was improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewell Arnold and son, Keith, of Jacksonville were Sunday dinner guests of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Dawdy. Afternoon visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Buford Dawdy and family.

Herold, finance officer; Jake Reddish, chaplain; Darr Smith, sergeant-at-arms; Lawrence Allen, historian; John J. McGuire, Sr., service officer.

COMING UP: BARGAIN BEEF—Sirloin steak that not long ago nicked the family budget a buck a pound is now down to about 75 cents. That old demand and supply is the answer. The number of beef cattle is up 40 per cent since January, 1949's 41 million head. January, 1955, found 58 million in the herd. Graph above shows how this increase has dropped prices from January's $29.50 per 100 pounds to $25 at the end of May. There's only one guy beefing at this—the cattle raiser, who sees his income badly clipped.

Bell's Booming Bat Gives Cincinnati 5-2 Win Over Brooks

CINCINNATI (AP)—Gus Bell's booming bat gave the Cincinnati Reds a 5-2 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers Wednesday night. Rookie Rudy Minarcin's bid for a shutout over the National League leaders was broken by Junior Gilliam's home run in the ninth inning. Bell accounted for three of the Reds' seven hits off loser Carl Erskine, knocking in a trio of runs with a single, double and home run. Bobby Adams drove in the other pair with a two-bagger. Minarcin shackled the Dodgers for eight innings on two scattered hits and a walk. But he weakened in the ninth, opening the frame with a walk. Then came Gilliam's fifth homer of the season and another hit before the 25-year-old right-hander settled down to strike out his fourth victim and get the last man to ground out.

Bell's double in the first frame drove in Ted Kluszewski. Adams doubled home Bell and Smoky Burgess in the fourth. Bell's sixth homer of the season in the sixth frame came with Wally Post aboard and chased Erskine from the game.

Cards Show Class By Winning 9-5 In Elk League

The Cards three top pitchers, Daugherty, Norton, and Mann, were once again in top form last night as they beat the Dodgers 9-5. The right handed trio fanned 14 Dodger batters and walked seven. They allowed just four hits.

The Cards picked up three runs in the very first inning and then continued to peck away at Johnson, the Dodgers hurler, until they finally tallied nine runs in the six inning game.

Norton, besides hurling good ball and playing second base, got three hits in four times at bat. Witham, the Card centerfielder had three for four.

Scores of yesterday afternoon's Elk League games prove how closely matched the teams are. The Red Sox squeaked by the Yanks 9-8. The Eagles had less trouble with the Indians as they won 18-7.

'Old Guard' Versus Young Hungry Pros In National Golf Open

By WILL GRIMSLEY

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Golf's "old guard," symbolized by limping Ben Hogan and unpredictable Sam Snead, makes what may be its final stand against onrushing youth in the 55th National Open Championship beginning Thursday at the Olympic Club.

Hogan, 42, tired stiff-legged from a near-fatal automobile accident six years ago, and with the look of eagles no longer in his eyes, is making another determined stab at his fifth Open title which would put him above Bobby Jones as the winningest of Open champions.

He still is viewed with respect and fear—although to a lessening degree—by fellow pros.

Snead, 43, with the build of a halfback and the strength of an ox, but dulled by repeated knockouts in the past, is still shooting for Open championship No. 1.

Behind these two titans, come a horde of what the veteran Gene Sarazen has termed "young hungry wolves" lusting for fame and fortune.

This group is headed by a San Diego, Calif., sphinx named Gene Littler, hailed as the sport's bright new hope, and a barrel-chested former Duke University football player named Mike Souchak, who shattered all-time scoring records in the spring.

In between is sandwiched a formidable collection of preclonists who have been dubbed "the forgotten 30s" because of their age group. And there's strong betting that the new champion will come from this list which includes lame-armed Ed Furgol, the surprise winner at Baltusrol last year; Masters champion Cary Middlecoff, Dick Mayer, Jack Burke and others.

Most observers concede that there are 25 men in the field of 162 who might walk off with the $5,000 first prize, which is worth infinitely more in prestige.

Single rounds Thursday and Friday reduce the field to the low 50 scorers and ties, who will play two rounds Saturday in the big showdown.

The tournament will be broadcast daily by radio NBC between 7:30-8 p.m. CST and televised nationally over NBC Saturday from 6-7 p.m. CST.

The Olympic Club's Lakeside Course, a 6,700-yard layout which plays 600 yards longer, has a par 35-35-70.

Jimmy Jackson Shoots Sub-Par Golf In Iowa Meet

DES MOINES (AP)—Defending champion Jimmy Jackson, Walker Cup player from St. Louis, sailed through the first round of the Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament at a sub-par pace Wednesday, but three of the other seven seeded stars were sidelined.

Jackson, seeded No. 1, opened the first-round crush with a 7 and 6 victory over Glen Oatman of Kansas City.

But George Clark, 21-year-old Ottumwa, Iowa, collegian; Ed Hopkins of Abilene, Tex., and Jim English of Topeka, Kan., the 1950 "Trans" champion, didn't make it.

Clark, seeded No. 5 and one of three co-medallists, went down 5 and 3 before Leonard Bjorklund of Minneapolis, who played even par golf.

Hopkins, holding the No. 6 spot, lost to 21-year-old Tom Beck of Tulsa.

MAUVAISTERRE WHOPPERS

Lake Mauvaisterre must've gone down a couple of inches when the York family dickered these two beauties out of its depths Tuesday night. Lorne York, right, holds a nine-pound catfish, 27 inches long. Gordon York and daughter hold a five and one-half pound, 25-inch carp.

The two whoppers were caught on a throw line about an eighth of a mile from the dam. The Yorks used dough balls and crawfish bait. After the picture was snapped in the Journal Courier office, the fish headed for the York dining table at 800 N. Clay avenue.

Nellie Fox Whacks Two As Sox, Orioles Split

BALTIMORE (AP)—Nellie Fox's homer, his second Wednesday night and one of his six hits in the doubleheader, sent the Chicago White Sox on the way to a 2-0 victory after losing the first game to the Baltimore Orioles 6-5. Bobby Young's single scored Gil Coan in the eighth inning to break a tie in the first game.

Manager Marty Marion, needing the second victory to stay within 2 games of the league leading New York Yankees, called on three of his ace pitchers, Mike Fornieles, who got credit for the triumph, Billy Pierce and Sandy Consuegra, to quell the Orioles. Baltimore broke Chicago's four-game winning streak in the first game.

Consuegra also relieved in the first game and took the loss. Fox, the diminutive second baseman, knocked his fifth homer of the season in the third inning. It stood out as the game's only run off Oriole pitcher Jim Wilson until the eighth when Fox again figured in the scoring.

Chico Carrasquel singled, Fox followed suit, sending him to third, and he scored while the second baseman was being forced by Jim Rivera.

Dave Pope, hustled into an Oriole uniform after Wednesday afternoon's trade from Cleveland, singled his second time up in the second game only to be caught off second on the hidden ball trick by Carrasquel.

The Orioles won the first game in the eighth inning on Young's single to score Coan from third after the White Sox came from behind twice to tie the score. Coan, running for Gus Triandos who singled, worked around to third on two infield outs.

The Orioles took what seemed a comfortable 5-1 lead in the fifth on Hoot Evers' sixth homer of the season with two on base. The White Sox came back with three runs in the sixth on five hits and Fox tied the score in the next inning with his homer.

Detroit Hopeful Of Getting 1960 Olympic Games

PARIS (AP)—Detroit tried to tempt the 1960 Olympics to The Motor City Wednesday with a revolutionary offer to pay athletes travel expenses from all over the world.

The International Olympic Committee, filled with facts and figures about the seven cities wanting the games, will make its decision Thursday.

The morning and afternoon sessions of the IOC were devoted to hearing the pleas of Brussels, Budapest, Detroit, Lausanne, Mexico City, Rome and Tokyo.

In making the Detroit offer, Fred Matthei, head of the Detroit Olympic Committee, said that funds from television sponsors would be used to pay the travel expenses.

There was no clear indication whether the offer would help or hurt the Detroit bid.

"We figure that about $300 on an average would be necessary for transporting each athlete, regardless of whether he comes from Russia or Canada," Matthei said.

The offer is intended to eliminate one of the big objections to moving the games to the U. S. Many European nations complain about the big expense of long trips for the athletes and the necessity for spending dollars, a currency in chronic short supply for many nations.

RACING FIGURE DIES
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Robert Simms Strader, 87, for many years a well known figure in the trotting horse world, died Wednesday of a heart attack. From 1909 to 1947 he owned Forkland Farm, near Lexington, and from 1947 to 1953 he lived at Oswego, N. Y.

Stone's 3-Hitter Scalps Indians 7-0; Feller Loser

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dean Stone snapped Washington's seven-game losing streak with three-hit pitching Wednesday night as the Senators defeated Cleveland 7-0. Johnny Groth and Roy Sievers smashed home runs off loser Bob Feller.

Groth belted his home run with none aboard in the second inning and the Senators chased Feller during a six-run spurge in the fourth, when Sievers crashed a three-run homer.

Mickey Vernon launched the six-run uprising with a single. Groth walked. Clint Courtney singled to center, scoring Vernon, before Sievers drilled his home run into the left-centerfield bleachers.

Ted Gray, who signed a Cleveland Indians contract Wednesday night, started pitching almost immediately.

Gray, released last month by the Chicago White Sox, came in to work as a reliever in the last of the fourth inning with the Indians trailing 4-0.

The 25-year-old left hander was made a free agent by the Sox because of a sore arm. Salary terms were not made public by the Tribe.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southpaw Mel Parnell, aided by Tommy Hurd in the ninth, pitched his first victory of the year Wednesday as the Boston Red Sox defeated Kansas City 9-6. The A's scored four times in the ninth.

Jackie Jensen's two-run homer featured the 11-safety Sox attack. Until the ninth Parnell had yielded only five hits and two runs on homers by Gus Zernial and Bill Renna.

Reliever Hurd walked pinch hitter Elmer Valo but got Zernial on a routine fly ball to end the game.

Parnell, out much of last year with a broken wrist and this year with a knee injury, had pitched only 6 2-3 innings in his two previous appearances.

Ted Williams contributed a pair of singles and a walk to the Red Sox cause, boosting his batting average 10 points to .388.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The corporate bond market was generally higher Wednesday, but U. S. government bonds eased.

"Big Board" volume increased to $5,510,000 par value from $4,830,000 Tuesday. Some convertible obligations were strong, though most closed below the best prices of the session. Investment quality corporates also tended to improve.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Aircraft started a rally in the stock market Wednesday, and it carried along in good fashion to near the close when it faltered a bit.

Prices hit a new average high the sixth such record peak in the last eight sessions.

Gains went to around $1 to $2 quite frequently, and they extended out to between $3 and $4. Losses of a point or more were not very numerous.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.04 at $170.60, a new high. Tuesday the average was down 60 cents. The industrial component gained $2.50 at a record high of $2,322.80. Utilities were up 10 cents. The railroads, however, fell back 20 cents.

Volume came to only 2,650,000 shares as compared with 2,860,000 shares Tuesday.

The rise in the market continued until shortly after the start of the fifth hour when a recess in trading was called for 30 minutes for a civilian defense drill. The financial district closed down for 10 minutes for the practice alert and trading in the stock market was resumed 20 minutes later.

The pause seemed to put a damper on the rise, and trading also slowed materially.

The American Stock Exchange was mostly higher on volume of 1,050,000 shares as compared with 1,100,000 shares Tuesday.

Grains Jump Near Close On Board

By LAWRENCE ELDRED

CHICAGO (AP)—It took floor traders most of the session to make up their minds which way to jump on the Board of Trade Wednesday. When they did in the closing minutes, it was up—well up.

Gains were great enough, in fact, to recapture not only losses experienced earlier in the day but also practically everything given up in the preceding session when the bears had a gay time of it.

Only rye lagged, lucky to have caught up with previous closes.

Wheat closed 1/4-1 1/2 higher, corn 3/4-1 1/2 better, oats 1/4-1 1/2 higher and rye 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher. Soybeans were 1/4 to 1 cent higher and lard 10 to 20 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Reports of wet weather damage to a southwestern winter wheat crop already seriously crippled by drought brought new buying into wheat.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

CHICAGO (AP)—Strength in the hard market and demand for scarce pork products helped push live hogs into new nine-month high prices at the stockyards Wednesday. Trading was active at strong to 50 cents higher values.

Cattle were unevenly steady to 50 cents lower while vealers were weak to $1.00 off. Spring lambs and slaughter ewes were steady to weak but there were too few shorn lambs to make a market.

At $21.50 for a short deck, butcher weight hogs were at a new peak going back to Aug. 27. Most barrows and gilts ranged from $17.00 to $21.25, however. Sows topped at $17.75. Shippers took 2,500 of the estimated 9,500 hogs on sale.

Good to prime steers ranged from $18.50 to $25.50 and a like grade spread on heifers brought $18.75 to $24.00. Commercial cows topped at $15.00, bulls at $16.75 and choice vealers at $23.00.

A part-deck of prime spring lambs pushed to a crop peak of $26.25 while other choice and prime offerings brought $25.00 to $26.00. The best of limited supplies of ewes graded good and carried fleeces for $6.00.

Other arrivals included 14,000 cattle, 500 calves and 1,000 sheep.

Scott Cancer Society Drive Goes Over Top

WINCHESTER — Scott County Cancer Society Campaign chairman S. R. Faris reports that the Educational and Fund Raising Drive during the Cancer Campaign in Scott county in the months of April and May resulted in total donations of $1,333.28. The goal for Scott county was $1,200.00. Over $100 of this amount was given as memorials to the late C. R. W. Frost.

Faris stated that the credit for this successful campaign in the county goes to the co-chairman Dr. Wm. O'Reilly, the Winchester Woman's Club, under the leadership of Mrs. Raymond Funk, who conducted the campaign in the city of Winchester, and to Mrs. Paul Vannier of Bluffs, who conducted the campaign at Bluffs, and the surrounding townships; the township chairmen; and the many workers who contacted the Scott county people and business establishments.

The majority of the people in Scott county were contacted and given an opportunity to contribute to this campaign and their response was most gratifying.

The purpose of the campaign was not only to raise funds to continue the fight against cancer, but to acquaint everyone with the danger signs to watch for, and what to do about them.

"The educational benefits of the campaign were equally as important as the fund raising," Faris stated.

Death Has 3 Lives

by Brett Halliday

LUCY went to the telephone and called police headquarters, explained what she wanted to know to the first voice that answered, and was switched to two other gruffly official voices before a member of the Harbor Squad supplied the information:

"Yes, ma'am. She'll be at the morgue pending identification or maybe an autopsy. You think you maybe know..."

"I'm not sure. It might be... my sister Maggie I just don't know. I'm scared to death to go down there, but..."

"Nothing to be afraid of, Miss. It's your duty to go down and check." She listened silently while he gave her explicit directions as to the procedure so late at night, and thanked him for his courtesy after a time and hung up.

She had been told there would be an attendant on duty to assist her, and she stood hesitantly just inside the door, her heart beating rapidly and possessed by an intense desire to turn and flee from the place before anyone came to show her the body she feared might be Arlene.

A door in the rear opened as she stood there, and a heavily-built man wearing a gray suit and a gray felt hat emerged and strode toward her.

He didn't fit her idea of a morgue attendant, and she stepped aside from in front of the door, looking past him to see a small bald-headed man in shirt-sleeves follow him through the door and turn to close it.

She took one step forward just as the man in gray reached her side. He stopped to stare at her in surprise, and exclaimed loudly, "I didn't know you were coming down too, my dear. It isn't Helen, thank God!"

He caught her arm and swung her about toward the door before Lucy could collect her wits and disclaim knowing him. His bulky body was between her and the attendant and he shouldered the door open while clamping a big hand tightly over her mouth and pushing her through it in front of him.

Crazed with fright, Lucy struggled and kicked to free herself, making gurgling sounds behind his tight palm, but they were going down the steps now and there was no one to observe what was happening.

A black, two-door sedan was parked at the curb, and he held her tightly with one arm about her neck and the hand still over her mouth as he jerked the door open and pulled the seat back.

Twisted upward as she was while still fighting to free herself, Lucy had her first clear look at his face. It seemed familiar, and the truth came to her with sickening force.

It was the man who had been in the gray sedan on the Causeway when she had tossed Michael Shayne's makeshift bomb into the front seat.

At the same moment, he deliberately swung a big fist against her right temple.

A loud gong sounded inside her head.

LUCY HAMILTON swung back fuzzily to consciousness some time later. She had no way of knowing how much later. She had no idea where she was at first, or how she had got there. She was constricted in a narrow space, and in a moment or so she realized she must be on the floor in the back seat of a moving car.

Then, suddenly, she remembered everything.

Her head ached intolerably as she shifted position, reached out hands on either side to affirm her guess that she was on the floor in the back of a moving car.

She wasn't bound in any way. She had just been dumped in the back, unconscious, and he had driven away from the morgue with her.

He must have recognized her there at once, she thought. He had gotten a good look at her on the Causeway in the moonlight without any hat to hide her features.

Why had he grabbed her and rushed her out the door of the morgue before she could protest? Did he realize she was an old friend of Arlene Bristow's and that was why she had come? Was the dead woman Arlene, and did he have some reason for wishing her to remain unidentified?

She lifted herself on her elbows and gazed unhappily at the back of the driver's head silhouetted above and in front of her.

Other women in a similar position, she recalled, had been known to take off a shoe and knock a man out by socking him on the head with the heel of it. But she hadn't changed since her walk on the Causeway, and she was wearing the same sensible, rubber-heeled walking shoes she had selected for that jaunt.

THE car was slowing more and more, and she strained her eyes to read the street names on corner posts as they slid past intersections.

The only thing she could read was Biscayne Blvd. on two successive corner signs as they passed. So, they were on the Boulevard traveling northward.

She was certain, now, that he was braking for a turn. She sat very tense on the floor with her head just below the level of the seat in front of her, straining her eyes out the window to catch the next street sign.

Saltair Street! It was completely unfamiliar to her. She hadn't the faintest idea where it was except she knew it must be near the northern limits of the city and right angles to the Boulevard.

Catholic Church, Red Party Battle For Control Of Workers In N. Italy

By FRANK BRUTTO

MILAN, Italy (AP) — The Roman Catholic Church and the Italian Communist party are joined in a headlong, grand-scale struggle for the loyalty of the working man in industrial northern Italy.

Four men, from among whom the next pope might well be chosen, are directing the church's campaign. Three of them are cardinals. The fourth, Giovanni Battista Montini, declined a cardinal's hat two years ago to continue as right-hand man to Pope Pius XII. He is now archbishop of Milan.

Arranged against these men in a battle which could break the back of Italy's two-million-member Communist party, largest in the West, are leaders with corresponding power and influence in the Communist hierarchy.

From Milan, the battle lines extend in a diamond shape across Italy to the port cities of Genoa on the Ligurian and Venice on the Adriatic Sea. Then they drop southward to meet at Bologna, principal city in Italy's rich Po Valley and now governed by a Communist mayor.

The church commanders beside Montini are Giuseppe Cardinal Siri of Genoa, at 49 the youngest member of the College of Cardinals; Giacomo Cardinal Lercaro of Bologna; and the cardinal patriarch of Venice, Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli.

Montini, Siri and Lercaro are frequently mentioned as likely candidates when the time comes to choose a successor to the present pope.

In Milan, Montini's opponent is would-be party boss Pietro (The Barrel) Secchia, who has been described by Moscow as "The perfect Bolshevik."

In Bologna, the Communists are led by ham-handed Giuseppe Dozza, a former blacksmith who has been mayor since the end of the war.

Two Red leaders, ex-Mayor Gerardo Adamoli and party regional secretary Secondo Pessi, oppose Cardinal Siri at Genoa. And former Mayor Giambattista Giannino directs the Communists in Venice.

The Communists have lost the first skirmishes. For the first time since the war, Communist unions have been losing in shop steward elections in northern Italy.

The Communist-dominated Italian General Confederation of Labor (CGIL) has lost 159,770 members in recent months. The biggest loss, 75,597, came in Lombardy, whose industrial heart is Milan.

Montini took over his post at Milan early this year after having been associated with the Vatican's secretary of state office for 30 years.

His first act was to remove the silk gloves of diplomacy at Sesto San Giovanni, a steel and heavy industry city of 45,000 which has been known since the war as "Little Stalingrad," because of Red strength there.

Under a cold, winter sky, jagged with factory chimneys, the former vatican pro-secretary of state declared: "With the grace of God I will do everything possible to be the archbishop of the workers."

Montini's words were a direct challenge to Secchia, an advocate of direct action and opponent of ailing Italian Communist chief Palmiro Togliatti's kid-glove tactics. If Secchia, now 52, can turn tide of Red losses in Lombardy, his bid for leadership of the party in Italy scarcely could be challenged. Secchia generally is given much of the credit for building the Italian party from about 400,000 to more than two million membership.

The prize for which the archbishop and "The Barrel" contest is an immense one.

In the low-price 3, PLYMOUTH is
FIRST IN STYLE.
FIRST IN SIZE.
FIRST IN SAFETY FEATURES!

The thrill of pride you feel each time you take the wheel of your new Plymouth has several sources. There's the sleek smartness of its all-new Forward Look styling. The eager power of the thirteenth, smoothest 6, or the most powerful standard V-8 in Plymouth's field.

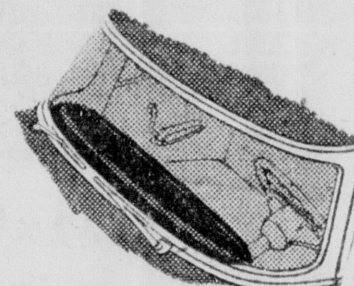

And there's the peace of mind that comes from knowing that you and your family are protected by more safety features than offered by any other low-price car. You'll know what we mean when you drive a big new Plymouth—how about today?

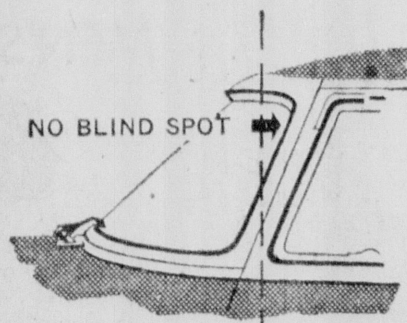

"AMERICA'S MOST BEAUTIFUL CAR"—that's what the nation's foremost artists' group, the Society of Illustrators, say about the 1955 Plymouth!

BIGGEST LONGEST ROOMIEST

THE BIGGEST CAR OF ALL 3 is naturally the most comfortable inside, and Plymouth gives you the smooth, steady ride only a big car can give.

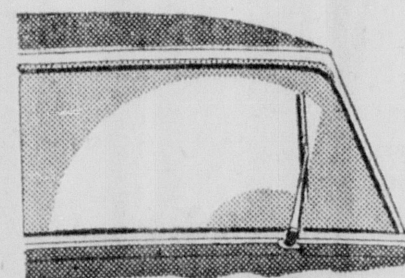

NO-GLARE FINISH ON INSTRUMENT PANEL prevents annoying light reflections and helps keep you fresh and alert. In the low-price 3, a Plymouth exclusive!

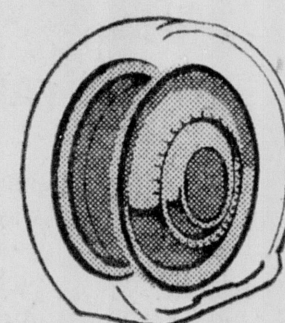

NO BLIND SPOT

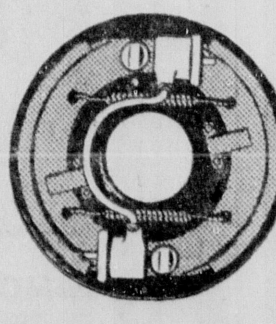

NO EYE-LEVEL "BLIND SPOTS," thanks to this unique swept-back windshield design that gives you the greatest visibility in Plymouth's field.

ELECTRIC WINDSHIELD WIPERS operate at a constant speed; do not slow down when you accelerate. Standard equipment only on Plymouth in its field!

SAFETY-RIM WHEELS have a special retaining ridge to help hold a tire straight on the rim in case of a blowout. Another Plymouth exclusive!

SURER, MORE PREDICTABLE STOPS come from two hydraulic brake cylinders in each Plymouth front wheel, where the other two low-price cars use only one.

Carpet-Cleaning Discovery Hailed

What is said to be the "easiest and cleanest" home rug cleaner known as Blue Lustre is now available. It is the development of years of research.

Blue Lustre leaves no foreign residue in the nap after cleaning. The pile is left open and fluffy and the colors are restored to original brilliance as if by magic. All this plus the fact that it's easy to apply and safe for the finest fabrics makes Blue Lustre the answer to the wall to wall carpet cleaning problem.

Blue Lustre is a concentrate and inexpensive to use. A half gallon will clean three 9x12 rugs.
